“ I had the privilege of calling Brian a friend and getting to work with him on a medic for a couple years. Brian was a kind person who always put others before himself. Its taken a month to try and comprehend this loss and its still a struggle. Youre missed brother and well all continue to pray for you and your family.

“ I watched as my nephew went from a newborn, to infant, to toddler, to preteen, to teenager, to high school grad, to a young man searching for a new life in Denton. He found his niche in the medical field and was working on his goal of becoming an RN, a world in which exciting opportunities and experience awaited him. It's heartbreaking and tragic that a week which started with the birthday celebration of a life long lived (his Grandfather) ended in such sadness and mourning over a life that ended too soon. All those fond memories of birthdays, holidays, and family gatherings over the years, which we enjoyed at the time, along with pictures and videos, are now worth more than gold. Priceless, in fact. Life is fragile. Take nothing for granted. Cherish every moment, because it will never come again.

“ God Bless you , we all are going to miss you immensely and forever. I pray you have peace and are free of the pain you endured. Jesus said " I am the Light of the World, whoever walks with me will never walk in darkness but will walk in the Light of Life". I know you walked in the Light. God Speed.

“ I recall a very kind young man that always enjoyed hearing a story, no matter if it was true or not. Always grinning and wanting to play. Most of all, he was a momma's boy. He showed his love for his momma all of the time.
