“While I didn't know Catrina personally, I felt as though I knew her through the photos Jay shared. One thing that struck me was that she appeared to always have a genuine smile which amazed me considering all she was going through. May she be at peace now. I continue to keep her family in my prayers. And I WILL get to the Pepin Heights store.”

“ Jay, I have thought of your family so often over the past week. Many prayers for you, many tears shed for you, and my heart just continues to hurt for you. I did not see you guys very often, but I fell in love with your entire family the first time I met you at The Bridge. Every time I saw Catrina through her entire fight, she was always and I do mean ALWAYS smiling and full of hope for her healed future. I know it was a tough battle, but she was valiant through it all. She fully trusted in her Lord and she was a walking testimony of His amazing peace and strength in her. I will never forget her or the impact her life made on me because she walked what she believed and that is an inspiration to everyone going through tough times. Much love to you guys and will continue to pray for you and your family.

“ It has been a long long time since we were face to face, but you and I always kept in contact with each other throughout our own Cancer Journeys, always reaching out just when the other needed a hand up through a rough spot on our path. It was a connection we seem to have... I rejoice and am somewhat envious that you have gotten to meet Our Lord and Saviour before I did.... You, my friend, are safe in His arms now, to suffer nevermore and I will continue on, seeking to encourage and offer hope to others sojourning in this place. It's what we do... Sweet Catrina, we will meet again, when the fullness of time demands it. Until then watch over your family, Jay and the children, ever so often, show them you are still with them with signs they can see and warm their hearts with the hope of being reunited in time..... Fly High my Friend!!!!!!JPeterMock

“ Dear Katrina, you will always be my inspiration to fight in the face of adversity and to maintain faith despite all odds. I know that you are with Jesus right now, and you will always be there with your three beautiful children and Jay. God blessed them with the perfect angel, you. And Jay, I know you know that you and your family have been a constant in our daily prayers and will continue to be. I am heartbroken for your loss. Thank you for allowing all of us to follow in this journey and be a community of prayer for you and Katrina. Love, Sara

“ Jay, There is nothing that I can say that will ease your pain, but just know that we love you and your 3 children. Catrina has instilled in them the strength and courage that she exhibited. She was a wonderful mother and role model for her children and a wonderful wife, best friend and companion to you. Honor her memories, treasure your children and feel blessed that you had the time with her that you did.

“ Jay, I am heartsick. My Ellen and your Catrina fought their cancers through the same years. They were both brave fighters and an inspiration to all who knew them. None of this helps the pain of your lose. I know you will find the strength to move forward with Gods help. I will always have the fondest memories of Catrina and the way she raised her family. Be strong and know that I will pray for you, Hope, Jerry and Grace.
