“ Chris was such a hard worker. He always had a way of brightening up a very dull day. The world lost a great father, son, and shipmate. God Bless you and your family you left behind, and congratulations on earning your wings Buddy! I know you will be protecting and looking over them. RIP

“ Chris was the most sincerely caring person that I have met in many years. He loved the Lord, and he loved his family. He put everything he had into his life, was not afraid to push the boundaries, and took care of his people. He exemplified "Leadership By Example", and did whatever it took to get the job done. His only fault was trying to carry too much on his shoulders, but he was not afraid to try. I have the privilege of calling him my Shipmate, and my Brother. Rest in peace Chris, we will meet again in Heaven.

“ RIP Chris. We served together in 2010 on Henry M. Jackson Blue, Chris was Sailor of the Millenium for Strategic Systems Programs back then. He decided to return to sea duty early instead of competing for Sailor of the Year, which brought him into Limited Duty Officer ranks. We spoke often when I was at Squadron 20 Comms in Kings Bay, Ga and he was on West Virginia as the AWEPS, Chris had a tough go with life, may you rest in peace Brother.

“ Rest easy shipmate, we have the watch now. I had one hell of a time serving with you, and we definitely made work enjoyable on the boat. It's always difficult to lose a shipmate in any circumstances, especially one as young as you. You will be forever missed not only by your family, your shipmates, and your co-workers, but by the people of the United States of America you swore to defend. Rest easy now shipmate, rest easy.

“ Our son. Chris why did you have to leave us so soon. It's heartbreaking to think of a future without you in it. Never to hear your voice, get to give you a hug, your calls talking about the love you had for Sam and the children or the happiness in your voice when you would talk about how good y'all did doing game rooms as a family..oh God help us all get thru this. we have been so proud of all your accomplishments in your short lifetime..you would have been one heck of a roll model for your children and to people who will never have the opportunity to know you. our Son we know that you loved us with all your heart and soul. And you knew we loved you with every breath we took. You are gone now to be with God We just hope to see you again in heaven. till then son Know we will miss and think of you and love your memory for the rest of our lives. Your loving and heartbroken parents. Jim & BobbyJo Kus.

“ I knew Chris here at work in Kings Bay and spent a few months sharing office space with him before he got out of the Navy. A very intelligent and dedicated young guy with a positive outlook on life that loved his family and talked of them often. We became friends and I am shocked and I wish he would have reached out. Very sorry to hear he is gone and the world is worse off without him. God Bless his family.

“ My beloved brother...you gave me so many years of unconditional love, support, jokes and laughs. You had the biggest heart and and it was a gift you shared without hesitation. There was no end to the love you shared. I know you will live on forever in the heart of everyone who knew you. There are no words to express the ache my heart feels over losing you but I am so blessed for all the memories I have to hold onto until I'm able to see you again. I promise to live by the example you set, and try to always bring happiness and smiles to those around me. You are my younger brother but I hope you always knew how much I look up to you. I carry you in my heart forever. I love you Chris.
