“ Daniel, I'm still having trouble processing that you are gone. But I know that I will always have the memories from when we were little and what a great man you grew up to be. You and Papa watch over each other and both keep an eye on all of us here. You will always be in my heart and on my mind. See you again one day. Love you!

“ Daniel, We laid you to your final resting place with your Papa. I know he will look after you so my heart has found some peace. I cherish the time we spent together at Thanksgiving when you and I sat and talked on the front porch you loved. I will always remember what you said to me, Maw I want you to know you don't have to worry about me. I'm doing what I want to do, in a place I love. I am right with myself and with God. As you know I have always worried when you were away and unreachable. You have always been a great joy to me and the goals you have attained. RIP and watch over Papa for me, I will be seeing you soon. Love you forever. Maw

“ Daniel, traditionally blood makes your family. However, this isn't the case with most small Texas towns as it "takes a village" ..Your family is my family and my heart is pretty heavy with memories and the hurt of seeing your family having to cope and adjust to life without you. You've counseled me many times in the past and you've always had such a sweet and good intentioned soul. I remember when you broke your legs but let me sleep on the couch, with you in the recliner lol. You'll always be in my thoughts and I'll help look after your mom and family until everyone gets to meet up again. I hope we give you good entertainment with you watching over. Much love and peace

“ Daniel, you are a part of our Kalalau family. Not many people know what that means. We shared life and happiness and a very special bond that only those who have been there understand. These were the best times. You will always be loved, our friend and neighbor.
ALOHA FOREVER

“ Daniel, these hard times are only slightly comforted by knowing that right now, your probably cracking a cold one with Papa, kicking back with your lines in God's pond, and looking down on all of us, relieved from the stress of the physical world. I love you man, and I know you found that peace you've always been searching for.
