“ Sherry, Taylor and Family, I was thinking back to the last visit I had with Sherry and Jerry, as they were out for one of their evening car rides when they stopped by for a visit. As Sherry looked & dug around for her pliers to fix Jerry's oxygen tank; he just started reminiscing about what a caring & wonderful wife he had in Sherry. He was so proud to talk about how beautiful she was and how much he loved, adored and appreciated her. Sherry--I could tell he meant every single word he said and it was so cute to see how he made you blush and giggle :). He made your whole face beam as you looked at each other; and we chuckled over you trying to keep his oxygen going as you hunted for your pliers!! Watching you bumble with tools and a tank gave us all a chuckle but Jerry sat there just loving you through the smiles. So; as we waited for Sherry he then began to talk about you, Taylor, how proud he was of you and what a wonderful young lady you'd become. He said that, "Taylor can do anything if she sets her mind to it". Taylor--your Dad told me how proud he was to give you away at your wedding. You were truly daddy's little girl & he loved you so much! Jerry told stories that evening of people I'd never even met but each one was so funny and enjoyable who cared??? Sherry and I just laughed & laughed & enjoyed the stories & the time we spent with him. If it wasn't for the oxygen tank, you would've never thought him to be ill. He looked so good, was in good spirits & of course acted like the same good & warm hearted man he had always been to me. However; now, after attending his memorial service, I realize all the stories were of his children, grandchildren, family and friends. Sherry--Thank You for bringing him to visit me on one of his last car rides. That time spent with you & he is such a fond & humorous memory I will now forever hold in my heart. And to Jerry--Thank You for the smiles, the stories, the laughs & the memories! You will truly be missed but certainly never forgotten!! Love, Mrs. Yeahquo

“ It's never easy losing a loved one, Friend, Husband, Dad, words can never replace the touch or conversations but knowing there is no more pain or suffering is a blessing. God has a plan for each of us and he is always there ready to help and aid you in your loss and so are your friends.

“ Sherry, I as well as the staff at Denton Cardiology were deeply saddened to hear of Jerry's passing. He was a loving husband and father. He was a beloved patient who I feel privileged to have known and had the opportunity to care for. Jerry brought laughter to every patient encounter regardless of how poorly he may have felt. He was tough as nails with a kind and tender heart. We will miss him greatly. With sincerest sympathy, Daniel W. Caldwell M.D., F.A.C.C. Denton Cardiology Staff

“ I remember when I used to live in Shady Shores and Jerry used to drive up beside my house each day to get into the pasture. For several days he would look over and see me sitting on a bucket looking at something. One day I guess he just couldn't stand it anymore and stopped. "What are you looking at", he said. I answered, "my rabbits".He looked at me, shook his head, and drove off. I'll never forget that.
