Louise enjoyed gardening and working in her yard, but her greatest joy was watching and making memories with her grandkids and great grandkids, most of whom lived within walking distance of her home. She also enjoyed having coffee on her front porch at three pm every day with her children and whomever happened to come by.

She is survived by her three children, Robert Carroll and wife Jackie, Tommy Carroll, Sherry Riley and husband, David; nine grandchildren, Brian and Jeff Carroll, Krystal Russell, Tracey Tacina, Shane Carroll, Amber Stone, Lindsay Clark, Matt and Luke Riley; 19 great grandchildren, Kristen, Jonathan, Braydon, Christery, James, Dylan, Ryker, Emmalyn, Drue, Kaylah, Saryssa, Haylie, Alli, Rylan, Hannah, Jace, Brynleigh, Logan, and Olivia; two great, great grandchildren, Jeriah and Ayden; numerous nieces and nephews; and sister, Hettie Hooten.

“ I was blessed to spend my childhood growing up right next door to Nanny. She used to have a weeping willow tree in her yard and all the grandkids loved playing in the long branches. We loved chasing lightening bugs through that tree and catching them in mason jars. I also loved spending our summers at Lake Texoma with her and PaPaw. I learned how to play Phase 10 during those summers and to this day, Phase 10 is still my favorite card game. I know she had the most joyful reunion with PaPaw and the rest of her family when she entered those heavenly gates. And while our family is hurting and grieving, she is celebrating in the arms of her Savior.

“ I grew up hearing Louise laugh with her sisters (my Granny was one of them). Years ago when I had newborn twins, my Granny and Louise came to spend the night with me to help out and give me a chance to sleep. When I got up the next morning, my baby boy had his twin sister's frilly pajamas on. I'm not sure what all went on through the night, but I know they laughed a lot, and then we all laughed some more the next morning.

Another time my Granny and Louise visited us around Christmas and we all watched Home Alone together. I have never heard two women laugh more at anything in the entire universe than they did at that movie, and I've never laughed harder before or since than I did at them laughing.

My Aunt Louise's life was filled with love, laughter, family, kindness, and service, as well as the hope and peace that comes in knowing this life is just one segment of our journey heavenward. Her passing makes me long for Home, and I look forward to seeing her again someday. I sure hope she told my Granny I said hello when she got there.

“ My favorite memory of her was when we were in Hawii an got locked out on patio, seven stories up. We tried getting someone's attention down below in swimming pool. Nothing. We finally decided one push on door the other pull on it, it worked. We always laughed about it later.
