“ This is my cousin, I didn't say was because my cousin is alive in Heaven. As growing up with all my cousins, we had the best of time at Grannies house, especially holidays. They lived down the street for awhile also from us on Shorehaven. I can honestly say and believe that the mold was broken when he created her. She is to me a very virtuous woman, God blessed her in many ways, some we may not know. But I looked up to her in her faith, strength and charisma for life. She will always be in my heart and mind. I thank you God for creating her that special day. I wouldn't want any other cousins in the world. They are my sister's I never had.. Love you and yours, and.all my family.. May God continue to be the strong point in the lives of the family as they were in hers. May God bless the family, send the comforter and love that wraps all around you like someone is hugging you so tightly.. f###foreverfamily##

“ God truly blessed me, when He put sweet Meshelle into my life. She approached me and asked me if my daughter would like to join the Girl Scout Troup that she and our sweet friend, Leslie Lynn decided to start. We were new to the community and didn't know too many people and I thought this would be a wonderful way for us to make new friends and get involved. Little did I know, she would become one of my closest and dearest friends, over these many years. I also got to know her sweet husband, Shawn and their two beautiful girls over the years. I was again blessed with the opportunity to meet the girls half way and take them to AWANAS. I think I gained more from that opportunity than they did. Eventually, they moved away, but we always stayed in touch. We prayed for each other and cried on each other's shoulders when life was hard. She showed me what it is like to love ALL people, unconditionally. Flaws and all. She loved our Lord and always gave the best advice. I will always think of her and say, she was one of my very best friends. We didn't talk everyday and it might be months before we did, but when we did, we picked up exactly where we were the last time we talked. For all those, who loved her and there are many, our loss is huge. For Meshelle, it's her gain. She is healed and with our Lord and Savior and any others that preceded her. I love you, sweet Meshelle. I will see you again! Thank you for being the dearest and best of friends.

“ I had the pleasure of meeting Michelle in 2013 through her daughter Hannah. My first impression of Michelle was, “So this is what moms are like”. Having had my own issues with familial relationships, for the first time, I was looking at a woman who had built herself a family and home and still had so much love leftover for everyone else.

Her smile was warm, like coming home after a long day. She always greeted me with “hey stranger” or “hey girly” and she’d laugh lightly along with it. It was like music. Her hugs fixed anything and everything. No matter how you felt before the hug, you felt completely accepted and safe when it ended.

There aren’t many people on this earth that give you 100% of who they are from the start. Michelle was always her genuine self and unapologetic for it, but she was never adverse to new ideas or new things. She embraced anyone, no matter your background but she also did her best to help guide you still, as if your own failure meant she’d failed you.

AND NO ONE DID CHRISTMAS LIKE MICHELLE. If you knew her, you knew that.

God knew what He was doing when He created her. Her beautiful family is a testament of the person she was and she will live on in the stories and memories shared for years and years to come. I have no doubt that she is currently singing praise songs at the top of her lungs with the angels in heaven, adding even more light to its already unimaginable splendor.

I am going to miss my other mom. But I know that I wouldn’t have found a sister in Hannah had it not been for Michelle. So I look forward to seeing those parts of her shine through in my best friend and I can’t wait for the day when we meet again and I can finally say what I wanted to say from the moment I first saw her smile.

Thank you.

To Hannah, Bri, and Shawn -

I wish there were words when I know there are none. Nothing can express the how sorry I am for your loss. I only got a sliver of what Michelle had to give and can't imagine how you are feeling. I will be praying for you and your family, that God wraps His love, warmth, and healing around you and that you feel His presence fully in the weeks ahead. I hope you know I am here should you need anything and I love you all dearly.

Rest in peace "mom", I love you. Soar through the heavens for me and save me a flight.

“ Me & Meshelle met at Praise Temple. We hung out a lot and she became my best friend. We always kept in contact over the years. She was such a huge part of my life , always wanting to hear where I've been lately . I was the lucky one to have her in my life. I'll always be grateful to have known her. Fly high sweet angel!

“ I met Meshelle in FB. She sent me a message commenting on one of my posts and told me how I inspire her every day and to keep the posts coming. In all actuality, Meshelle has been my inspiration as to how encouraging she was to others even during her own struggles. I will truly miss her.

“ Meshelle and I met when we worked together at Royce City middle school. I knew from the moment that I met her she was a super special person. It was a blessing to have someone at the school who loved Jesus so much. She and I were able to start a weekly Bible study for students at the school. Her words of wisdom I know lead mini teenagers to Christ. we became like family and enjoyed time together away from school. We went to Christian concerts together, shared meals together and because she was an unbelievably talented beautician, she did my daughters hair for her wedding. I loved her like a daughter and always will. She was gods favorite and now she gets to hang out with him. Cancer free and pain-free.

“ Precious Meshelle. I am so grateful for the spark she gave my family. Meshelle was instrumental in my daughter, Grace, being baptized. I don't have a picture with Meshelle, but Grace will carry Jesus with her for all of her days, and we have Meshelle to thank for that gem! She is an inspiration in so many ways! -Sarah Jones

“ In life, friends come & go just as seasons do, but the Lord blesses us with a hand full that stand the test of time. Meshelle was just that to me.

We became good friends at our church youth group many years ago. I was in a rebellious stage of life but she always saw past the tough exterior & spoke life over me. Though life took us in different directions in adulthood & we rarely saw one another, the Lord brought her back into my life about 14 years ago. She has been a constant voice of encouragement ever since. This week I've read many messages we've shared through years...encouraging one another and praying for one another. She loved her family immensely. These pics are a just few of our many memories together, the most recent at her 50th bday celebration.

She will forever hold a special place in my heart & I rejoice knowing she's with Jesus and I will see her again. We are covering the family in prayer ❤️

“ I don't have one specific memory because all the times I got to spend with Aunt Shelle were wonderful! She welcomed me into the family as if she'd known me my whole life! If you asked Aunt Shelle, I was just as much her niece as James is her nephew ❤️ I'm so blessed to have the time we did together. I will cherish every second we had, all the memories, and remember you forever. We will do everything in our power to keep your memories alive and for LeAnn, and any future great niece or nephew, to know how much they were loved my their Aunt Shelle. Forever God's favorite ❤️🇺🇸

“ Mom was a joy to people in their darkest moments. In her suffering, she still put others over herself. We didn't have much while I was a kid, but I had a full and great childhood with a creative and fun mom. She could look at me with those hazel eyes and scare me straight, but also smile and make me feel everything was going to be alright. I was very blessed with a mom that loved us girls so intensely. She took pride in every performance no matter if the stage was at a concert hall or the living room. I know she is still proud of us. Love you mom.

“ I'm so thankful to have had the chance to get to know Meshelle and to be able to truly call her not only a friend, but the strongest most supportive friend I've ever known. She had such a caring and loving heart and always went out of her way to try to make everyone around her happy. As Meshelle once told me, "I always love to brag on how awesome you are!!" and now it's our time to brag on just how awesome Meshelle was. I will keep her family and friends in prayers as we are all grieving a wonderful life lost way too soon.

“ She was my soulmate. Hand picked, by God, for me. Now, a big piece of my heart is missing, but with the beautiful daughters she gave me, I'll cherish her with them, as long as we're alive she will be as well. I'm forever yours... faithfully. I love you baby!

What a gift to have such a special love, could we ever have enough time when we have something/someone so great? Remember her with smiles, keep her alive in conversations and events by mentioning her name. She will be with you always in every breath you take. My each passing day bring your heart more peace. Rest easy Meshelle, you are finally healed❤️

I first met Mechelle and her daughters at the middle school in Royse City. She was so awesome and caring. She worked with the special students and did an awesome job making them feel special. She was so positive. We reconnected when she shared her husband had MS. I have MS. I knew then how strong a woman she was. She will be missed but forever in my heart.
