

Ryan Lawrence Callens

September 2, 1965 - August 11, 2014

Ryan Lawrence Callens passed away on August 11, 2014. Ryan was born on September 2, 1965 in Atlanta, Georgia. He was the third child of Barbara Ann Brossette Callens and the late Earl Eugene Callens, Jr. Ryan grew up in a family of 10 children in Tullahoma, Tennessee. After graduating from high school, he attended Brigham Young University where he received a bachelor's degree in economics. It was there that Ryan met his beautiful wife Elena Escudero Callens. They were married on August 19, 1989 in Dallas, Texas. Ryan and Elena soon settled in the The Woodlands, Texas where he taught Spanish for two years. Continuing his career, Ryan became a data base specialist for financial institutions. Ryan and his family moved to Frisco, Texas in 2006. Ryan was a caring and compassionate person and many who knew him relied on him for advice and wise counsel. Ryan was a gifted storyteller, a teacher by nature and also had a passion for continual learning. But the greatest love of Ryan's life was his wife, Elena. Their relationship was characterized by a love and respect that was observable to others. Ryan and Elena loved their children deeply and their home was always open to them. “ Ryan, I still think of you and wish I and your other classmates could see your sweet smile again. I know from the boy you were that you no doubt grew into a man who loved his family and always tried to do what was best for them. I will keep your family in my thoughts in the coming years.
